

Huddle Up to End Gender Violence

Institute for Sport and Social Justice (ISSJ)
R2 2017-2018
$47,660

The Institute for Sport and Social Justice (ISSJ) in Orlando, FL delivered an organizational, systemic, and community-level prevention strategy designed to empower high school and intercollegiate athletics coaches and staff with the knowledge and tools to address gender violence through the program, Huddle Up.

Communities

Adults
Athletes
Boys
Coaches
Girls
Men

Non-binary
Parents/Foster
Parents
Students
Women
Youth/Adolescents/
Young Adult

Products

Female Domestic Violence
Curriculum: PLAY HS
Male Technical Foul
Curriculum: HS Male
Online Harassment
Curriculum: HS
Female PLAY Yellow
Card
Curriculum: HS

Female Domestic Violence
Curriculum: Coaches
& Staff Defenseless
Player Infraction

System:

Colleges/Universities
School (K-12)
Sport

Level:

National

Enhance Partnerships

Partnered with regional locations to bring Huddle Up across the country.

Measure Impact

The Huddle Up curriculum was evaluated as part of this project.

Train & Educate

The train-the-train model for the curriculum had a goal to reach 120 engagements.

Build Champions

Huddle Up is a train-the-trainer model that includes advanced senior leader focus groups for additional support.

Provide Resources

In addition to creating spaces for Huddle Up to thrive, the program offers handouts along with the curriculum. Learn more at Huddle Up.

What's next:

This project worked to ensure replicability of this model for high school and college athletic programs through the development and dissemination of an end of project report. Also this project placed a priority on providing access to Huddle Up training for coaches and staff from under-resourced organizations that otherwise would not be able to benefit from this level of quality training.

Contact:

Delise O'Meally, Executive Director
domeally@ucf.edu

Suzi Katz,
skatz@ucf.edu